HYDE DISAPPOINTS BUT NOBODY CARES

GOVERNOR UNABLE TO ADDRESS LARGEST BIBLE CLASS

VICTORY TO MARYVILLE

3,231 Men Attend Monster Religious and Patriotic Gathering and Missouri Humbles Iowa.

The largest men's Bible class in the world met in Maryville Sunday morning.

Three thousand two hundred and thirty-one men were present at the meeting, which Governor Arthur M. Hyde had promised to address. The governor did not come, but nobody cared. Just to be one of the throng of men gathered in a great religious and patriotic meeting was reward enough for the long trips some of them made.

Arkoe, Barnard, Guilford, Quitman, Skidmore and Maitland were represented. So were Wilcox, Burlington Junction, Clearmont, Elmo, Pickering, Hopkins and Parnell. Then there were delegations from Rea, Bolckow, Rosendale, Savannah, and other towns outside the county, even Clarinda. Selma Davis, whose home is at Tacoma, Wash., was a member of the Guilford delegation.

To Maitland goes the honor of having the largest delegation at the gathering. The Holt county town had 210 in its crowd, according to the report of the Maitland committee. This number, however, includes both men and women. Incomplete figures from other towns, as given by the individual committees, are as follows: Pickering 40, Hopkins 50, Gaynor 45, Guilford 30, Bolckow 25, Rosendale 35, Savannah 30, Skidmore 60, Quitman 20, Burlington Junction 75; Clearmont 40, Elmo 20, Barnard 130, Wilcox 25, Rea 8, Graham 40, Whitesville 10, Parnell 25, Fillmore 15, Conception Junction 15.

It is hardly necessary to say that Maryville won the contest from Clarinda, and Missouri is once more supreme over Iowa. Of the 3,231 men here, 2,712 were on time. This made a total of 9,174 points, and when 866 of them signed up as new members, it made 10,906 points. None were accepted as new members who have been attending any Sunday school already.

Clarinda had a thousand men on time and a total of 1,126 present. There were 500 new members, making 4,252 points. Maryville's lead for the day was 6,654 points. Adding the lead of 615 points already gained in the first part of the contest, the local men had a total lead of 7,269 points.

To Clarinda Tuesday

The banquet at which the losers will entertain the winners will be held at Clarinda next Tuesday. The Maryville men will invade the Iowa town in force, taking with them their band and chorus. Baseball teams picked from the two classes will probably furnish part of the entertainment.

Governor Hyde's failure to arrive in Maryville was apparently a much greater disappointment to the leaders of the class than to the men to whom a speech had been promised. The announcement that the governor would be unable to come was received with regret, but there was no criticism. The address of the day was made by Louis V. Stigall of St. Joseph and his oratory compensated for the disappointment.

Why Hyde Failed

Governor Hyde spoke at Clinton on Saturday afternoon. He was forced to make the trip to Kansas City by automobile, and engine trouble delayed his arrival there until it was too late ta get a train for St. Joseph, where he was to be met by a committee from Maryville. The committee waited practically all night in St. Joseph, kept telephone and telegraph wires hot, and, when they finally decided to erturn to Maryville early in the morning, left two of their number at the meeting place in case Governor Hyde should arrive. According to the announcement of the Rev. Mr. Snodgrass, W. C. Pierce, one of the committee and a close friend of the Governor, set the entire Kansas City police force to work to find the missing statesman, but without success.

Cars began arriving in Maryville early in the morning. They were lined along the streets for blocks from the church and parked in vacant lots near the building.

An Overflow Meeting

Secretaries stationed at the entrance to the church counted the men as they entered, giving each a numbered tag. The church was packed before half the men had been cared for. Every seat on the lower floor was taken and men stood along the walls on all sides. The balcony was filled, and the Sunday school rooms in the rear of the church were thrown open and filled. An overflow meeting was then arranged in the tent in which the class meets regularly.

The program in the church proper was opened with orchestra music, followed by the singing of "America" The opening prayer was given by the Rev. Hugh McClellan of Skidmore. The Rev. Mr. Snodgrass then introduced Mayor F. P. Robinson, who made a short talk welcoming the visiting men. The offertory selection by the orchestra with imitation of chimes by Ernest Moore, at the piano, was a feature of the program. H. F. Spencer a student in the university of Chicago, and a member of the Maitland delegation sang a baritone solo.

The preliminary addresses were given by Judge John M. Dawson and Charles McCaffrey, prosecuting attorney.

Mayor Robinson and Prosecuting Attorney McCaffrey also spoke at the overflow meeting in the tent. John Fields of Barnard, Fred Dunn, Bolckow, and Len Jordan, Skidmore, were other speakers.

At the beginning of the main meeting in the church, men more than 75 years old were invited to sit on the platform. The following men were included in the number who answered the invitation:

Jasper Roberson, 87; Jas. Parshall, 87; Alex Gray, 85; W. S. Schooler, 78 W. H. Thompson, 75, Caleb Brogan, 78, F. W. Polen, 80, E. M. Burch, 76, J. B. Forse, 78, L. H. Bever, 85, T. W. Porter, 78, H. Slone, 78, Warren L. Johnson, 77, E. Eserest, 79, J. F. Gray, 74, J. S. Wood, 76, Geo. Warehein, 78, E. F. Weller, 76, J. W. Tippin, 80, R. I. Wiggell, Amos Stretcher, 75, T. Y. Neal, 77, and Jacob C. Clayton 80.

After the morning program, the visiting men were entertained in the College Park, where the band furnished music and lunch was served.

The men's class today adopted the following resolution thanking those who cooperated in making the day a success:

Resolution of Appreciation.

Be it resolved by the Men's Bible Class of the First Christian Church, that we in this manner express to the public our sincere appreciation for the co-operation extended to us by men everywhere in helping us put over the grand day we had last Sunday. We desire to thank the committees from all the towns for the interest manifested by them. We desire to thank the Barnard, Rosendale and Maitland bands; especially do we desire to thank Judge Dawson and Mr. McCaffrey for the aid they gave us and for hearty spirit they gave us and for the hearty spirit they manifested when called upon at a time

ED HAMMOND SOLD "HOOCH", CHARGED

TRIAL IN POLICE COURT SET FOR TOMORROW MORNING.

STATE TAKES ACTION, TOO

Case Will be Tried Before Circuit Court in September—Selling "Corn Whiskey" Is Charge.

Ed Hammond, an employe of the Star livery barn, faces trial in two courts today on a charge of selling intoxicating liquors, following the admission of two men Saturday that they bought "corn whiskey" from Hammond.

Night Policeman Ed Wallace and Mayor F. P. Robinson noticed the two intoxicated men on the street Saturday night. Their stories implicated Hammond, whose arrest followed. Hammond pleaded not guilty, and his trial in police court was set for Wednesday morning. His bond, signed by Q. A. Gilmore and George Hammond, was fixes at $1,000.

Charles McCaffrey, prosecuting attorney, has also filed information against Hammond, and he must face trial in circuit court. His bond on the state charge was fixed at $500, with Hammond and Gilmore as sureties. The case is set for September 26.

George McKee and Earl Hayworth are the men on whose stories prosecution of Hammond will be based.

Hammond lives at 1201 East Second street.

JAMES O'NEIL HOME IS ENNERED AND RANSACKED

While Family is Away, Thief Goes Through Closets and Drawers —Loss Not Determined

When James O'Neal and family returned to their home about 9 o'clock last night, they found that one of the windows of their house had been pried open and their home had been ransacked. Closets and drawers had been torn open and their contents scattered all over the floor.

Mayor F. P. Robinson and sheriff Steve Roach were called, but things were so disordered that they could not tell what was missing. Foot prints were found in a flower bed just outside the window, which would indicate that the house was entered before the rain which fell Sunday night.

There have been a number of reports of night prowlers recently but this is the only one that was reported over the Fourth of July holiday.

JURY IS NAMED TO TRY ALLEGED HUSBAND SLAYER

Defense Will Use Peremptory Challenges to Eliminate all Women Jurors, Attorney Declares

Courthouse, Cleveland, July 5.—Twelve jurors were tentatively selected today to try Mrs. Katherine Kaber, alleged husband slayer. The defense exercised the first of its sixteen preemptory challenges to eliminate one of the six women jurors, Mrs. Rose Oliver. William Corrigan, chief counsel for defense, announced that he would eliminate every women in the box.

MANY PEOPLE AT FOURTH JUBILEES

RAIN FAILS TO DAMPEN ARDOR FOR CELEBRATING

BIG TIME AT HOPKINS

Miss Beulah Beatrice Gillespie and Clyde E. Marston, both of Clearmont Married Publicly

Although the rain dampened the earth and astmosphere i nthis section of the country yesterday morning, it failed to dampen the spirits of the crowds which attended the various Fourth of July celebrations held in Noadway county. Only one celebration wes postponed until today. The Fourth of July observances to have been held at Bagby grove two miles east and one mile south of Skidmore, was in full swing this afternoon.

Charles F. McCaffrey of Maryville, prosecuting attorney and L. C. Gabbert of St. Joseph, a candidate for representative in Congress at the last election, were the speakers. Barbecued beef was a feature of the dinner and music was furnished by the Clearmont band. A ball game between Burlington Junction and Graham was played this afternoon.

According to various reports, Hopkins had one of the largest "blowouts" in celebration of the Fourth, that the county has had for a long time. Clearmont on account of the rain, the morning events were not given until the afternoon. A very large crowd attended. The free lemonade and cookies promised to all visitors were there in plenty.

Miss Beulah Beatrice Gillespie and Clyde E. Marston, both of Clearmont, were married publicly by the Rev. R. E. Snodgras, pastor of the First Christian Church of Maryville, and were given many presents by business houses of Hopkins. The Burlington Junction band furnished music and a parade was an attractive feature. The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass gave a talk in the afternoon.

Jigger Bock, the Hopkins wrestler, won the best two out of three falls from Gardner of Kansas. Bock won the first fall after three minutes of wrestling. The second was won by Gardner and the third by Bock. The time of the third fall was four minutes.

A crowd estimated at three thousand people attended the Skidmore celebration. In the base ball game between Skidmore and Wilcox, Skidmore won, 5to 2. The Rev. C. M. Chilton of St. Joseph, a former pastor of the Maryville Christian church, gave an address in the afternoon. The Skidmore-Maitland band played during the day and at night, two shows, "The Poor Married Man," a performance given by the Skidmore Rebekah lodge and a show given by the Famous Players, were given for the price of one. An attractive display of fireworks was also an event of thenight program. In the guinea race ofr the children in the afternoon, first prize was won by Archie Barrett and second prize by John Early.

The Farmers Association held a celebration at the Hugh Whiteford grove three miles southeast of Guilford yesterday which was largely attended. The speakers included Judge W. K. James of St. Joseph, Editor John Rush of Barnard, Frank Roberts of Worth, W. E. Allyn of Sheridan and Frank Nauman of Craig.

People of the Harmony and Ravenwood communities joined in an ice cream social and celebration held at Harmony. There were fireworks for the children and a general social time was had.

Spanish Cabinet Out?

London, July 5.—A news despatch from Madrid this afternoon says that the Spanish cabinet has resigned.

Mrs. Edith Glenn and daughter, Dorothy, went to Skidmore Saturday to visit for several days at the home of Mrs. Glenn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Torrey. Mrs. Glenn returned to Maryville yesterday but her daughter remained for a longer visit.

CASUALTY LIST MOUNTS IN REFINERY EXPLOSION

Nine are Known Dead and Forty-Two Injured in Standard Oil Plant Catastrophe.

Whiting, Ind., July 5.—Casualties are expected to increase during the day from an explosion that partly destroyed the Standard Oil Company's Refinery here either from deaths of injured or by finding of additional bodies. Nine known dead and forty-two injured, ten so seriously that their recovery is doubtful, is the toll thus far.

Two of the large stills used for production of gasoline exploded and other stills in the plant caught fire. The property damage resulting from the blaze is estimated at two million dollars. Officials today are investigating the cause of the explosion.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS WITH VICTORY AND DEFEAT

Maryville Team Performs Brilliantly Sunday, Winning 8-1, but Bows to Good Pitching Monday

It was an entirely diffeernt agency team that faced the Maryville Athletic Club yesterday afternoon after they had been easy victims Sunday. The score yesterday was 6-1 with Agency on the long end, quite different from the 8-1 score of the day before, when Maryville was victor.

The Maryville club, formerly the Stockyards team of St. Joseph, performed in brilliant style Sunday afternoon. They fielded faultlessly behind the steady twirling of Wakeman, former State Teachers' College star, and combined their few hits with the errors of the opposition to score enough runs to cinch the game in its early stages.

Agency brought a pitcher who performed the iron man stunt, pitching both games. His offereings in the second game completely mystified the local club's batsmen, while McFadden was hit hard.

Parnell won from Sheridan in a Fourth of July game at the latter place. The score was 6-1. Tuttle and Conover, a battery from the St. Joseph team of the Western League, performed for the victors, while Rusco and Rusco were the battery for Sheridan. This was the first defeat for Sheridan. Parnell will play at Conception Junction next Sunday.

Henry Buhler of Maryville added two more victories to his string Sunday and Monday. Pitching for Wilcox the first day he turned back Burlington Junction batsmen in a 7-4 game, He was in the box yesterday for Clearmont against Hopkins, winning 14-4. Skidmore defeated Wilcox yesterday 5-2, and Ravenwood triumphed over Hopkins Sunday, 6-2. King City beat Stanberry yesterday 15-5. Jim Branger's Maryville club played at Clearmont Sunday, losing 8-1.

WHAT MISSOURI FARMERS ARE DOING

Farmers of Johnson county are assembling another exhibit with which they expect to duplicate last year's performance and take first prize in the county farm bureau exhibit class at the Missouri Centennial Exposition and State Fair, Sedalia, August 8 to 20. Reports from other sections of the State indicate, however, that Johnson county will have more competition this year than they had last year.

Jackson county farmers are planning two big, all-day picnics to be hel dwithin a short time. County Agent Howat is urging the farmers of the county to atten dthe gatherings, eat a lot of fried chicken and other "truck" fixed up by "mother" and to forget for a day at least, the poor wheat crop and worse oats crop. All the "usual amusement and games will be provided.

Henry H. Carrithers, the new county agent, in Dent county, where a county farm bureau was recently organized, reports that two lime crushing outfits are in full operation now and two others are in prospect. The Dent County Farm Bureau also is organizing a livestock shipping association.

Receipts of wool at the St. Joseph pool are nearly 400,000 pounds, according to John McDaniel, district marketing manager. Grading has been in progress for some time and the graders report the average quality of the wool this year as much better than that pooled last year. It is expected that the application for establishing a bonded warehouse at St. Joseph will be approved shortly as the building is ideal, an inspector sa'd.

Fieldmen from the College of Agriculture found some Fultz wheat in Cooper county that grades 99.6 pure, according to H. M. King, Jr., secretary of the new Cooper County Farm Bureau.

The Cooper county Shorthorn Association sponsored a picnic last week at which about 75 Shotrhorn breeders and their families attended. A tour included visits to all the prominent herds of Shorthorns in the county. A big sale is planned by the Association for September 23.

From Lincoln county comes a report of how practical co-operation results in increased profits for Farm Bureau members. A poultry association was organized in the county last fall, which now ha s 80 members. Through persistent efforts, members of the association have induced a produce merchant at Trop to pay 3 1-2 cents a dozen or $1 a case more for infertile eggs than he does for ordinary stock. An unsuccessful fight for more money for infertile eggs was waged for three years prior to the organization of the association.

Cass and Jaspe rare two counties that are making big preparations for sending Farm Bureau exhibits to the State Fair. Arrangements are being made in Jasper county for charterins a Pullman for use of Farm Bureau members exclusively.

recently-organized, co-operative elevator association at Harrisonville was one of the first in the state to vote to join the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc.

TOO WEAK TO WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Quinly's Health. Now She Does Her Housework

Shelbyville, Mo.—"I was only able to do light housework because for months my periods were excessive. I had seen your medicine extensively advertised and thought I would give it a fair trial. I took about eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets according to directions and I feel like a different woman. I have not taken any medicine during the past three months and I believe my ailment is cured. I am now able to do all my housework and attend to my poultry and garden. If you feel that my testimonial will benefit anyone you are welcome to use it in your advertisements."—Mrs. L. D. QUINLY, R. F. D. No. 2, Shelbyville, Mo.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women strong, healthy, and able to bear their burdens and overcome those ills to which they are subject.

MORE THAN HE COULD STAND

Dear Girl's Explanation of Her Deep Love Was Just a Trifle Too Strong.

"And do you really love me, Alice?" The girl gazed at him fearlessly, honestly, now that the sweet moment of surrender was over.

"Yes, dear, I do," she answered.

"Tell me of your love, then. I have told you of mine."

"I am glad you asked me, because I have often thought of it, and it frightened me. My love for you is like a mighty torrent of water that tumbles everything before it, that rushes on and on, ever powerful and strong. It is like a fire that threatens to consume, that burns fiercely for ever and ever, in spite of everything. It could never be dampened or conquered. It is like a smoldering volcano that simmers beneath the surface, giving but faint indications of the force beneath. That is how I love you."

The lover who had sought for this, was plainly surprised by her words. He made a few commonplace remarks and left her. Something told her that she would never see him again.

His business was that of casualty insurance and his theories of balance and risk simply could not stand up under the onslaught of so much fire, water and other destructive forces.—Chicago Daily News.

WAS DRAWN CENTURIES AGO

Remarkable Example of Prehistoric "Art" That Was Found Recently in Central France.

A few weeks ago a number of remarkable drawings were found in a prehistoric cave near Poncier, in central France. They were drawn on the shoulder blade of a mammoth.

Work of Ancient Artist.

They were found 27 feet below the ground and are believed to be about 20,000 years old. This picture is reproduced from an actual tracing of one of the drawings.

Heifer Buried in Haystack.

Looking for a needle in a haystack now has its parallel in a heifer in a strawstack. A yearling heifer, which had been lost for five weeks, was eventually found on the home farm, at Clay Centre, Kas. The animal had fallen between two piles of straw and was held captive. It had lived on straw and had only moisture gained from the stacks as water. Although very thin, it is believed the heifer will suffer no permanent effects from its experiences.—Montreal Family Herald.

Farms on Manhattan Island.

Some of the most valuable and productive real estate in the world is at the lower end of Manhattan island, but there are still patches of vacant, unused land at the northern end. There are even, according to the Rural New Yorker, five farms left on the island, though the land devoted to this purpose is rapidly diminishing. Eleven years ago the number of farms was 85, while in 1900 there were 184 farms on the island.

Americans Spoke 56 Languages.

Fifty-six different languages were spoken at one time in America.

George Bird Grinnell, authority on the American Indian, reveals this in the March number of the Mentor Magazine. There were 200 different kinds of Indians speaking fifty-six distinct languages when the first white settlers came.

Electric Light Star Guides Fliers.

A new form of illumination is that of London aviation terminus where an electric sign in the form of a star is sunk in the ground and covered with thick glass so that airplanes can land on it without damage. From point to point, the star is nearly a quarter of a mile in length.—Journal of Electricity.

Oldest and Youngest President.

William Henry Harrison was the oldest man elected to the presidency and Theodore Roosevelt the youngest. Grant was the next youngest.

Remarkably So.

A Miss Pike was married to a Mr. Codd at Pembroke, Wales, which was set down as being rather a fishy affair.

DEAD IN FLANDERS.

See they not the banners flying;
Hear not they sad mothers sighing,
Nor the orphans' piteous crying
Westward of the deep!
They are fallen—heirs to glory,
On a field once dark and gory,
Blazon'd now in song and story,
Low they sleep.

Start the dirge both soft and lowly;
Move the martial column slowly;
Keep their memory pure and holy—
Bow the head and weep;
For at home they were the truest,
On the field their blood the bluest—
Love, whatever else thou doest,
Bless their sleep!

Ever may a grateful nation
Tell their deeds with exultation,
And in ceaseless coronation
Pile its garlands deep,
Till the immortelle of ages,
Reared by patriots and sages,
Every heart and eye engages
O'er their sleep.

Oh, our dead, our dead in Flanders!
Who but wonders—who but renders
Homage to those brave defenders,
Slain beyond the deep?
In our homes they were the truest,
On the field their blood the bluest—
FAME, whatever else thou doest
Guard their sleep!

—George W. Kettoman in Baltimore American.

MOST DANGEROUS WHEN HURT

Orang-Outang, When Wounded, Is Beyond Any of the Ordinary Feelings of Fear.

Fighting a full-grown orang-outang with weapons as primitive as the native blow pipe is extremely hazardous work, and the natives of Borneo avoid it except when a beast becomes a menace to the village. An orang-outang in battle is ferocious. It will bite its arms, tearing the flesh away and inflicting frightful wounds. If there are two of the animals, they bite and hug each other.

An orang-outang that has been struck by an arrow can follow the native in the trees or on the ground while the poison is taking effect. The only refuge from the frenzied creature is the smoke of a fire, and, when it is sufficiently enraged, even that will not stop it. The best chance lies in keeping it so harried that it does not know whom to attack; once it decides on a particular native, the native is as good as dead.

When the poison begins to work, after an animal has been wounded the natives end the fight with knives. The possibility of an orang-outang is a danger that all the men must be prepared to face, and the duty of engaging in an orang-outang hunt is no less important than that of making war.—Charles Mayer in Asia.

To the Would-Be Author.

An English humorist said recently in the preface to his book: "I write these stories to satisfy an inward craving—not for artistic expression but for food and drink." But I can not conscientiously advise any man to turn to writing merely as a means of earning his victuals unless he should by some cheerful casualty, stumble upon a trick of the You Know Me Alfred sort, what one might call the Attabuoyant style. If all you want is suggestion as to some honest way of growing rich, the doughnut industry is not yet overcrowded; and people will stand in line to pay 22 cents for a dab of ice cream smeared with a trickle of syrup.—Christopher Morley in the Outlook.

French Lusitania Medal.

An effective reply to the German Lusitania medal has been made by the French engraver, Rene Baudichon, with a medal just struck by the French mint. The German medal showed the Lusitania sinking; Baudichon's medal also portrays the ship, but a child is clinging to one of the spars. The German medal showed Death selling tickets to the Americans; the French version reveals the Statue of Liberty, dashed by a huge wave, holding aloft a sword instead of her usual torch. On the sword are the words, "Ultrix America Juris," America, avenger of right, and the dates, 1917-1918.—From La France, N. Y.

Missouri's "Marrying Parson" Institutes "Jazz Wedding"

Columbia, Mo., July 5.—Jazz is the order of the day. And now comes the jazz wedding ceremony, all revised to fit conditions of the Twentieth Century modernity.

Rev. G. W. Hatcher, Columbia's "marying parson", who has tied 447 knots of wedlock, is the provider of the new ceremony. Made public today, it provides that the groom shall reply to the following questions:

"Wilt thou take her for thy pard, for better or for worse; to have, to hold, to fondly guard, till hauled off in the hearse?

"Wilt thou let her have her way, consult her many wishes, make the fire every day and help her with the dishes?

"Wilt thous sooth her in her woes; keep her spirit, bright and gay? "Wilt thou turn the wringer, hang the colthes and trust her to rthe pay?

"Wilt thou give her all the stuff her little purse will pack, buy a monkey board, a muff, a little sealskin sack?

Wilt thou comfort and support her father and mother, Aunt Jemima, Uncle John, thirteen sisters and a brother?

"Wilt thou tell her to her face that she is sweet and kind; that the like of her in all the race would be difficult to find?

"Wilt thou be to her the same and never shirk nor falter, as she shall wear they name and thou shall wear the halter?"

To break the monotony of the questionnaire on matrimonial promises, Rev. Dr. Hatcher supplies the result on the groom: "His face grows pale and blinks; it is too late to pilt. As to the floor he sadly sinks, he quickly says: "I wilt".

Oh yes the bride must have her set of questions. They're supplied by the genial "marrying parson", who admits that Walt Mason hasn't a thing on him:

"Wilt thou take him for thy pard, for better or for worse; to have, to hold, to fondly guard his person and his purse?

"Wilt thou make him mind and show him every fault and then in spite of groan or whine, make him walk the calk?

"Wilt thou make him eat the scraps that belong to days of yore, so you'll get your mid-day naps and over novels pore?

"Wilt thou be quick to take control of all that's on the place and say to him in language bold: 'You're not my boss in any case?'

Wilt thou make him sweep the floor, fetch the wood and water, pick up things—or whatever else you order?

"Wilt thou make him darn his socks, sew buttons on his britches and get your fingers in his locks every time he misses?

"Wilt thou make of him a carryall for bandbox, grip and bundle; make hi mtake the parasol and to the racket tumble?

"Wilt thou be to him hfs dear beyond all conjecture and when you get upon your ear give him a curtain lecture"?

The bride is supposed to smile. In the rhyme of the minister: "Her face is all aglow, her eyes as black as jet as she queenly stands upon the floor and loudly says: 'You bet!' "

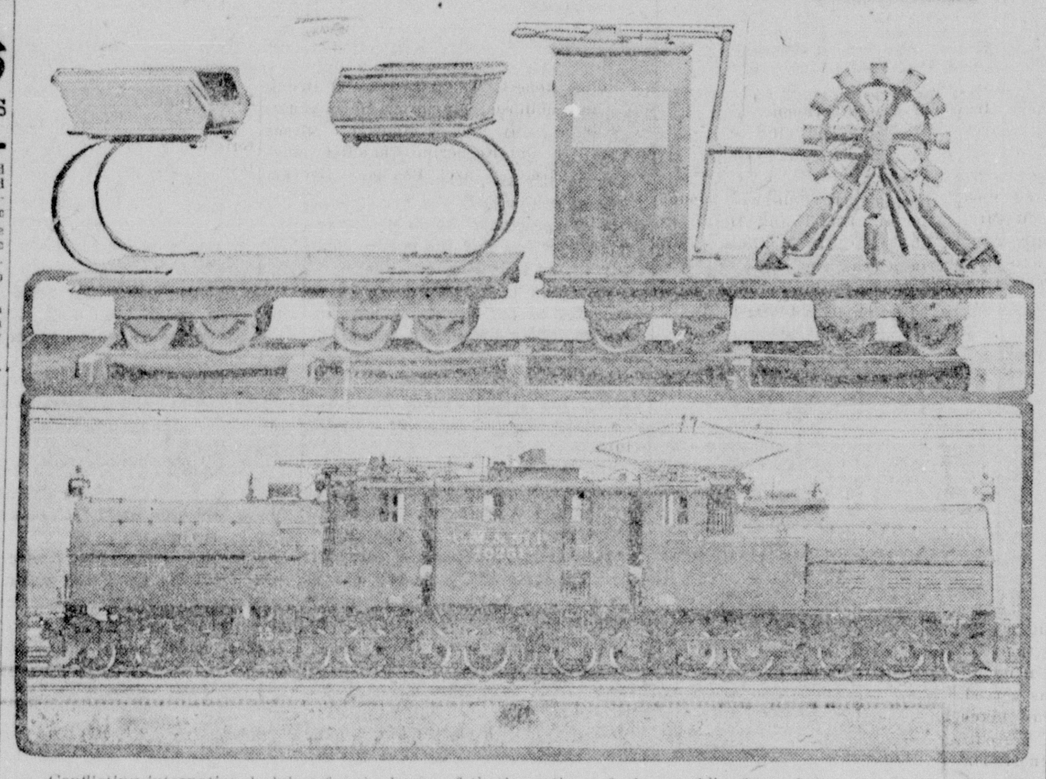
World's First Electric Locomotive Was American



Conflicting international claims for the honor of the invention of the world's first electric locomotive seem to have been settled by the discovery of an American machine operated in 1847 and antedating certain German claims by 30 years. The first electric car, shown above, was made by Moses G. Farmer of Vermont. Contrast this little ten-foot contraption with the powerful 265-ton, 3,000-volt modern engine of today, shown below.

HOT-WEATHER RULES FOR CARE OF THE WORK-HORSE

1. Load lightly, and drive slowly.

2. Stop in the shade if possible.

3. A sponge on top of the head, or even a cloth, is good if kept wet. If dry it is worse than nothing.

4. Water your horse as often as possible. So long as a horse is working, water in small quantities will not hurt him. But let him drink only a few swallows if he is going to stand still.

5. When he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, his nose and mouth, and the dock. Wash his feet but not his legs.

6. If the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a damp sponge, using vinegar water if possible. Do not wash the horse at night.

7. Saturday night, give a bran mash, lukewarm; and add a tablespoonful of saltpetre.

8. Watch your horse. If he stops sweating suddenly, or if he breathes short and quick, or if his ears droop, or if he stands with his legs braced sideways, he is in danger of a heat or sun stroke and needs attention at once.

9. If the horse is overcome by heat, get him into the shade, remove harness and bridle, wash out his mouth, sponge him all over, shower his legs, and give him two ounces of aromatic of ammonia or two ounces of sweet spirits of nitre, in a pint of water; or give him a pint of coffee warm. Cool his head at once, using cold water, or, if necessary, chopped ice, wrapped in a cloth.

10. If the horse is off his feed, try him with two quarts of oats mixed with bran, and a little water; and add a little salt or sugar. Or give him oatmeal gruel or barley water to drink.

11. Clean your horse at night, so that he can rest well, and clean him thoroughly. The salt dandruff drying on his skin makes him uncomfortable, and often produces sores under the harness.

12. Do not fail to water him at night after he has eaten his hay. If you don't he will be thirsty all night.

13. If it is so hot that the horse sweats in the stable at night, tie him outside, with bedding under him. Unless he cools off during the night, he cannot well stand the next day's heat.

(These Rules are prepared by the Boston Work-Horse Relief Association, whose office is at 15 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. We also publish Stable Rules, Drivers' Rules, Winter Rules and Noon-Feeding Rules. Copies of any of these Rules will be sent free on application.)

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

Ralph Peter of Skidmore was in Maryville Saturday on business.

Some People Think

That a laundry is injurious to clothes—that everything is put into one washer and washed with strong chemicals—that things are handled roughly and in an unsanitary way—

Nothing is further from the truth—

A modern laundry has the most efficient and clean methods—washes clothes as they should be washed with the purest of soap and water and handles them in the most sanitary way—

The modern laundry SAVES clothes because the method is not nearly so hard on them as old-fashioned wash board methods.

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigarette aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

Produce Review.

A lighter supply coupled with a better demand for butte rhas resulted in higher markets and better prices for butterfat. Quite a little of the butter reaching the markets this week is selling under top prices, on account of defects in quality. Better care in marketing cream in the country is necessary to remedy these defects.

The egg supply has been smaller, with higher prices ruling in the producing and consuming centers.

Poultry values are lower, due to increased receipts. Storage stocks are much heavier, than a year ago and there is a tendency toward lower prices, as the supply of fowl and spring chickens increases.

Japanese soldiers have increased two inches in height on an average since meat was included in their rations.

VISION.

Who hath the vision of the stars hath all that man may need
To help him climb the happy hill of high and noble deed.

For he shall lift his eyes from earth and all its sordid dust;
And he shall sing and he shall smile and he shall live in trust.

The vision of the stars—and then the might of hope and faith
To lay the ghost of fear and dread and laugh at every wraith.

It is a seeing more than sight, that clothes with heavenly guise
The beauty that we look upon alone with inner eyes.

The seeing that is vision's dream beyond the peaks that mark
The glory of eternal dawns beyond the outer dark.

BURBANK MADE OWN FORTUNE

Started With Ten Potatoes and No Money—Remarkable Work With Young Prune Trees.

In 1865 Burbank came to California. He sold all but ten of his stock of potatoes for $125. He finally reached Santa Rosa with less than a dollar in his pocket, but with the precious ten potatoes. Here, after years of struggle, he finally secured a few acres of land for a nursery and for experimental work in plant breeding.

Just one incident of those days will illustrate his persistency and resourcefulness. A fruit grower wanted 2,000 young prune trees to be delivered within ten months. None were in the market and the nurserymen all said it was impossible to produce them in so short a time. Not so Burbank. He promptly accepted the order. As the season was far advanced, he planted almonds in sand, supplied them with just the right moisture and kept them covered with cloth to maintain an even temperature. As the tiny sprouts appeared they were transplanted in the nursery.

He then secured from near-by prune orchards thousands of prune buds and as soon as the small almond buds were old enough the prune buds were budded into them. In less than seven months the order was filled and the seemingly impossible had been accomplished.—Arthur H. Chamberlain in Thrift Magazine.

Peanut Flour Valuable.

Various investigators have demonstrated that bread made from wheat flour of current composition is inadequate as the only source of protein in the diet. Government workers have found, however, that bread made with a mixture of 25 parts of peanut flour and 75 parts of wheat flour furnished adequate proteins for normal growth of experimental animals. The proteins of the peanut bread were utilized for gain almost twice as well as those contained in wheat bread. This does not mean that the familiar staff of life should be adandoned or regularly diluted with peanut flour; it does, however, put a stamp of real nutritive merit on a food product that many a physician still thinks of solely in terms of a trouble maker for digestion.

"Player-Typewriter."

Promising for office use is the new "automatic typewriter," which furnishes its own dictation, being operated on the same principle as a player piano, an exchange states.

Rolls of perforated paper, similar to the music rolls used on player-pianos govern the movements of the type keys. All that is necessary is to adjust one of these rolls in the machine and the writing "does itself."

By this means perfectly written "form letters" are produced, with space left for signature; or the same method may be employed for turning out any other matter previously prepared in the shape of a perforated roll.

Big Cattle Ranches No More.

The day of the big cattle ranches has gone and the tendency is now in the direction of smaller herds. The average size of the present herd is 700 head, whereas in former times it was many thousands. At the same time the quality of the cattle is improving and the animals bring greater prices. The compulsory erection of fences has had something to do with this new condition, for it is now a difficult matter to move a herd around in search of good grazing grounds, as was the custom some years ago.

"Poison Gas" Pistol.

Poison gas, as developed for military purposes, is the ammunition used in a tiny pistol now carried by many persons in Paris as a protection against highwayman. The liquid source of the gas is contained in the handle of the gun, and compressed air for its ejection is supplied by a bicycle pump through a valve in the bottom.

The Rose and the Story Book

By FREDERICK CLARKE

(©, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

A lonely, homeless man paused in front of a new bank building and watched the crowds enter and depart with a token of dull interest in his weary eyes. Old men and women, young ladies and little children, all chattering and happy, passed by the desks and counters loaded with a small fortune in carnations and roses.

"Opening day"—"new bank"—"giving souvenirs," fell upon the ears of the friendless man. As his turn came to face a counter he was handed out a beautiful rose.

"Married?" was all the floral distributor had asked. The man had nodded sadly. "Any children?" he was asked as he passed a second counter. The man gave a start as if waking up, and a pretty picture book was handed him. Carrying both in a half dazed way, he crossed the street, sat down on a doorstep, and, his eyes fixed on the two souvenirs, he seemed to lapse into a profound day dream.

Twenty-four months previously he had been John Dunbar, inventor, in this same town, a delicate, sensitive man, impracticable as to business, devoting his life to the completion of an invention that had been its one dream.

Working on the perfection of his model and then waiting for capital, knowing only how to think and not to work, his resources had dwindled away and his father-in-law, Judge Graham, stern and merciless, had come to him one day.

"Give up your idle dreaming and go to work like a man," he had said. "If you don't, there will be a home for my daughter and her child, little Ruth with me, but you must shift for yourself."

There were no reproaches from gentle, loving Ethel, his wife, but the inventor sought work. Unskilled wage and position offered were to him degrading. He wrote a brief note to his wife.

"Go home to your father," it ran. "I have given up my dream, I must give up you and the child. Your father can have the patent. I cannot face humiliation and defeat among my equals. I am a coward."

John Dunbar had heard of a wonderful silver mine in Mexico. He went there, worked like a peon and at the end of a year hired an overseer to send his earnings to his wife. Later he found that they had never reached her. He worked a second year. The mine was flooded. With a bare $300 he escaped with his life. He started for home. On the way he was robbed of his little earnings, and now he had landed in his native town—a pauper.

"All that I have in the world," he said bitterly, regarding the two bank souvenirs—"two years' exile, and these!— Why not?"

A sudden resolution had seized him. Unrecognized and as a stranger he threaded old familiar thoroughfares finally reaching the last home he had known.

An inquiry conveyed to him that strangers occupied the house. The Dunbars? The husband had gone away, the wife and child had moved to her father's home. The judge had died a year since. Mrs. Dunbar was living at such and such a place.

It was almost dusk when the refugee reached a neat cottage set in the midst of a rare garden.

The table was set for three. He wondered at that. Softly, on tiptoe, he advanced into the apartment. Beside the plate at the head of the table John Dunbar placed the rose. At the tiny tray near to a child's familiar high chair he laid the little picture book and withdrew. Then mother and child entered the room.

"Oh, mamma, look! look!" cried the little one eagerly, taking up the book.

Ethel Dunbar was dressed in mourning.

"Who brought them, mamma, and why?" asked little Ruth. "Oh, how pretty!"

"It must have been some neighbor, dearie," said her mother in a dreamy tone, "some neighbor who knew."

"Who knew what, mamma?" pressed the curious little one.

"It is just two years tonight since your dear father was lost to us," said the mother, and her voice died away in a low sob.

"Won't he ever come back again, mamma?" asked Ruth.

"We will hope and pray for it, my child," answered Ethel. "Always his place shall be ready for him."

Ethel had broken down utterly. In her pretty way the child was trying to comfort her. John Dunbar stole into the room and seated himself at the table.

"Ethel—my child!" he said, like one in a daze. "I am here. I have come back empty-handed. Only the rose, the poor little picture book—"

Loving arms were about him, tiny hands holding his bronzed own and kissing them, and a voice of rare tenderness was saying: "You have brought yourself—it is all we ask, all we need. My husband, oh, my husband!"

When John Dunbar learned later on that the litle cottage was called "Heart's Content," he did not marvel.

The patent had been placed in practical hands by Ethel after her father died. She was now receiving a liberal royalty upon it. The factory employing it needed just such a man as the inventor.

So John Dunbar, who had shrunk from his fellows like a wounded bird, came into his own.

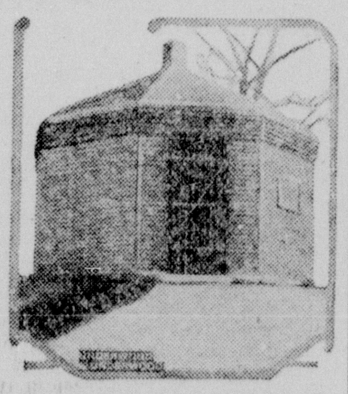
THE OLD POWDER HOUSE



This reproduction of the old powder house on Burial Hill, Plymouth, Mass., recently was presented to the city of Plymouth by the American Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. A tablet at the right of the door bears the inscription: "The old powder house was built here in 1770—This building, erected in 1920, is dedicated to those descendants of the Pilgrims by birth or of the spirit who helped establish American independence."

A Press Notice.

"Here, what do you mean by saying that the costumes of our chorus girls showed signs of wear?"

"They were somewhat frayed."

"Wear didn't do it. It's the numerous changes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HARDING REFRESHED AFTER FOURTH OF JULY OUTING.

Raritan, N. J., July 5.—Greatly refreshed by his few days' outing here President Harding, accompanied by Mrs. Harding and the official party, returned to Washington today. Mr. Harding was up early this morning and declared that he felt fine. It was announced before the party left here that there would be no cabinet meeting until Friday. The one that was scheduled for today was called off because several members of the cabinet would not be back from holiday trips.

Irish Conferences Begin.

Dublin, July 5.—Premier Jane Christian Smuts, of South Africa, who is to confer with leaders of hostile political factions in Ireland in an effort to further Irish peace, slipped into Dublin today unobserved and unknown. Following the arrival of the South African statesman, a consultation was held with the Republican chieftain.

Harry Costs Him $20.65

Robert Moody was fined $15 and costs, a total of $20.65, in police court this morning on a charge of speeding. Moody was one of two speeders caught using East First Street for a speedway by Mayor F. P. Robinson last Firday night.

Harry Simmons of Waterloo, Ia., is expected to come to Maryville tomorrow for a month's visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Wright and family.

Spend this Vacation in the Rocky Mountains

TAKE the family! Go first to Rocky Mountain National-Estes Park, the charm of which is not to be catalogued—merely to breathe in the rare air, scented with the rich pine odor, is a healing delight, brings glow to the cheek and sparkle to the eye.

There, amid the peaceful beauty of its flower-crowded valleys and sun-lit peaks, its laughing waterfalls and virgin forests, you can settle down for a few blissful weeks, to do just as fancy dictates—ride, climb, fish, golf, tennis, rest or just loaf to your heart's content.

On your return, stop off and enjoy Colorado's numerous, varied and inexpensive side trips—to Colorado Springs, Manitou, Colorado Glaciers, Denver's Mountain Parks, Grand Lake, et al.

Don't delay too long the matter of making arrangements for accommodations and be disappointed. If I can help you, let me know. When you are ready to start the Burlington will take you there.
